

I am writing to ask that FM translator service not be interfered with by Low Power FM stations. My specific interest is in K-LOVE a station I listen to many hours of the day.

I have a great love for music of all kinds, I have a great love for the Lord and I am often offended and feel insulted by the commercials heard on other stations. K-love serves me and many others in my community by providing the music we love, in a variety of styles and formats, being spiritual up lifting during the day, and does not subject us to listening to commercials that insult our intellect and advertise things I'm not interested in buying.

There are other Christian stations in my community, but because of its nation wide programming, and support from people every where, Klove is able to minister to us in ways other than music.

These days everyone talks about "my rights." Without Klove I would be giving up my right to find music that can be supportive spiritually. We would be forced to listen to other contemporary stations and be subjected to language and subject matter that is objectionable. Another choice would be classical stations, but we would lose the variety of music and, of course the boost to our spirit.
